This event is named after a man who was known as The Voice of the Boro – but he was so much more than that.

Alastair Brownlee was not only proud and passionate about Middlesbrough Football Club, but also the town and its people. Where physically possible he would support as many people, organisations, projects and events as he could, no matter how big or small.

Many years ago I asked Ali if he would take part in the Tees Pride Middlesbrough 10k and he said “If it’s for you Jimmy and it helps with the event promotion then I’ll do it”!

That’s how Ali was with everyone - he made you feel special, and you felt you had a friend for life.

After initially running the 10k, Ali went on to commentate on every Middlesbrough 10k and Riverside Run, encouraging every single runner over the line and always making the last runner feel as important as the first.

That’s why it’s only fitting that this event is named after him as a tribute to the love he had for his home town and its people. Ali would be proud of each and every runner, walker and charity fund-raiser who takes part, and I’m sure when you enter the Riverside Stadium with the finish line in sight Ali will be there encouraging you over the line.

Jimmy Wattis

Events Manager

Cleveland Centre

Cleveland Centre is delighted to be the primary partner of the Ali Brownlee Riverside Run for the fifth year running.

We are a proud Teesside organisation that is committed to working in, and engaging with, the local community, so it gives us a great sense of pride to support this flagship event.

Balfour Beatty

Balfour Beatty are proud to be a partner in the Ali Brownlee Riverside Run. We appreciate how important events like this are to the local community. Equally, we are aware what an ambassador Ali was to the town and the significant role he played in the community.

Charities

The Sports Events Charities Team(SECT) is a group made up of various local charities which was set up in 2005. The Run Middlesbrough programme provides each charity with an opportunity to raise much needed funds.

Your efforts can certainly make a difference to people’s lives. Please visit our charities section by visiting www.runmiddlesbrough.com
